The Adam C. Richards Family of Miami, Florida

Adam C. Richards (1/4/1849-6/15/1937) buried in Miami City Cemetery
m. Elisabeth Louisa (Rose) Wagner Drew Sept 5, 1876 (1852-10/27/1933) Files at the Historical Association of Southern Florida contain much information on the Wagner and Richard families. Rose came here in 1858 as the daughter of William Wagner. In later life she told many stories of what life was like here in the early days. She mentioned a Brown family, the Fletchers, the George Fergusons and the Joe Farrells.

Adam was born at Canton, Ohio and arrived here in a very roundabout way in 1875. Their marriage was the first to be performed in a little Catholic Church that William Wagner had erected on his property. They spent their first 15 months living in a palmetto hut on the Wagner Place in what is now the Highland Park area of Miami. Adam made starch and worked for Wagner.

In 1888 Adam purchased the Infinger Place just north of Matheson Hammock and in 1890 he homesteaded 160 acres on the south side of (now) Sunset Drive, getting a patent in 1895. The property is now bisected by Erwin Road (S W 47 Avenue) off which Pinewood Cemetery is located.

Adam's obituary said that he was assessor and tax collector from 1877 to 1880 inclusive, and was tax collector in 1889 and 1890. He took the federal census in 1880. He, also, told in later life how it was, here, in the early days.
